

Path With the Heart

by Frieda Morrison

Let us find some time, be for a while
With the words that were lost in the learning
Even though some time has moved with the morn,
You still flow kindly on

*There's a part of the past that you and me shared
On the path with the heart and the knowing
There's a part of the past that you and me shared
You still flow kindly on*

It has been some time since we spoke of the ways,
You made every field fit for growing
And the making was hope; the hope was to know,
You still flow kindly on

We broke up the fields, pushed back the stone
To the edge of the time and the knowing
And we wandered away from the path with the heart
You still flow kindly on
